Bron Ivy

MAGICIAN AND EVENT HOST

THANK YOU FOR HAVING ME AT SAM

I had a wonderful time sharing my love and knowledge of rubber band magic with you. I hope that you were able to take something away, and feel inspired to stretch yourself with rubber band magic (pun entirely intended!)

RUBBER BANDS

Penguin Magic stock rubber bands here

Monster Magic is my favourite UK stockist, available here (I suspect Alex will ship overseas, if you're happy to wait Alex Kirk is one of the most fantastic human beings and someone worth supporting)

If you search your favourite magic supplier for Joe Rindfleisch Rainbow Rubber Bands I'm certain they will have them!

LINKS TO PIECES DEMONSTRATED

Here are links to everything demonstrated during the lecture.

Stargazer by Alan Wong, this is a physical product which will give you a number of rubber band stars to start you off as well as a DVD or link to a tutorial. I've linked to Penguin Magic but any good magic supplier should stock this. If you're struggling with the explanation, here is mine: Bron's Stargazer Explanation

The Gift by Joe Rindfleisch – the rubber band with a bow. A great multi-phase routine with exceptionally strong and visual magic, which ends with a unique giveaway.

Jumpback by Joe Rindfleisch – my favourite way to make a rubber band appear, also disappear and reappear again. There is also the best colour changing rubber band effect I've seen. This is probably the utility move I use the most.

RADD by Joe Rindfleisch – ways to make a second band appear from one band, then disappear, then vanish the final band. Using these are a great way to lift any existing routines you already do, and make a great standalone effect too.

Touch by Hansen Chien – a very popular rubber band effect, which can transport a rubber band from one hand to another, or from your hand to a spectator's hand. I will say that I do not have this download, I was taught the effect elsewhere so cannot comment on this particular video.

Banderaction by Dr Cyril Thomas – the rubber hand illusion demonstrated is from this creative work. There are excellent pieces here, though they can be a little knacky to achieve.

The Flying Bandinis by Joe Rindfleisch – the lovely, wide, three phase piece with the fantastic twisted band between the strands at the end.

Bandistry by Joe Rindfleisch – rubber band shapes. Technically not magic, but certainly magical. A great way to showcase your rubber band abilities, and particularly stunning under a UV light.

Rubber Deception by Joe Rindfleisch – features among other things a beautiful vanish and a spinning band penetration.

Joe Rinfleisch Penguin Live Lecture – if an hour wasn't enough, then here is 2+ hours of fantastic rubber band theory and teaching. The thumb penetration demonstrated at the beginning is here, among hundreds of other effects!

FURTHER RUBBER BAND WORK

There is a whole world of rubber band magic out there that I didn't get chance to touch on. Here are some more pieces that I recommend looking in to.

Exoband by Dr Cyril Thomas – a clean and beautiful penetration effect. Looks stunning with a metal 4" ring.

Multiverse by Dr Cyril Thomas – if you're a card magician that would like to combine rubber bands with cards, then I highly recommend this. Incredible new ideas with cards and rubber bands.

Pinnacle by Russ Niedzwiecki – an impossible looking multi phase routine with a rubber band and spectator's ring.

Convergence by Joe Rindfleisch and Dr Cyril Thomas – the most visual restored rubber band trick in existence. Many have come before, none will come close!

Rubber Exchange 2.0 by Joe Rindfleisch – a development of Rindfleisch's popular colour reverse piece with further technical revisions and other ways that the move can be utilised.

Hanson Chien Penguin Live Lecture – this lecture also includes an explanation of Touch, as well as Lucky Star. Lucky Star is a demonstration of your ability to make a star shape with one hand at incredible speed. A good, interactive challenge for the audience, and a good precursor to Stargazer.

KEEP IN TOUCH

Feel free to follow me on Instagram or Facebook, I am on both as Bron Ivy Magic (@bronivymagic)

If I can help you with anything feel free to reach out via these platforms, or on email: bron@bronivymagic.com

Thank you again, I look forward to seeing you in the future!